Getting Fat

I'm going to tell you about two articles. The first article is about Africa. There is a certain tribe in one country who thinks that fat people are beautiful. The men in this tribe think women are more attracted to fat men than to thin men, so many men try to become fatter. Did you understand these first sentences? Women think that if a man has a fat stomach, it means he is rich and can buy a lot of food. Understand? In fact, every October, the tribe has a contest to see who is the fattest man. To become fatter and to win the contest, one man lay in bed for 12 weeks and drank 19 liters of milk every day. Did you get the third part?

Wrong Stadium

The second article is about two high schools in the U.S. They were scheduled to have a football game against each other. At the start of the game, an airplane was supposed to fly above the football stadium and two men were supposed to jump out of the plane and parachute onto the middle of the football field. Did you understand this first part? Unfortunately, the airplane pilot, who was a beginner, got lost. After a while, he saw a football stadium, so the men parachuted out of the plane. However, it was the wrong stadium. Did you get the second part? Some people in this wrong stadium, who were watching the football game there, thought the men coming down in parachutes were terrorists. Meanwhile, the people at the other game kept watching the sky and waiting for the airplane with the men in parachutes to arrive. Understand?

Part 2

(1) Listen to your partner read two articles.

(2) After each article, ask these summary clarification questions.

(3) Then answer your partner's Factual Questions and Reaction Questions.

Summary Clarification Questions

About the first article

1. I think you said that there is a problem in Manila because people are making fires and cooking roasts, right?
2. So if someone has a lot of cockroaches in their house, they can pay the police to kill the insects and they have to pay the police 10 cents for every dead cockroach?
3. In other words, a person with a roach farm can raise a lot of cockroaches and sell them to the government. Is that right?

About the second article

1. You said the man was alone in the laundromat because it was early in the morning, right?
2. I'm not sure if I understand. Did you say the man didn't want to take off his clothes because it was too cold, so he wore his wet clothes in the dryer?
3. I think you said the woman called the police when she saw the man. Did she call them because he was naked?

Bugs in Manila

I also have two stories to tell you. The first story is about a problem in the Philippines. In the capital city, Manila, they have a lot of insects, for example flies and cockroaches, and they're having problems getting rid of them. Did you understand the first part? In order to stop the insects, the government is paying people to kill them. So if someone brings 10 flies to the police station, they will get 4 cents. If they bring in 10 cockroaches, the government will pay them 6 cents. Did you get the second part? Because people can make money killing insects, some people have secretly started to raise cockroaches. In other words, now there are roach farms. Understand?

Naked in the Laundromat

The second story happened in Canada. One day at about 4 a.m. a man went to a laundromat to wash the clothes that he was wearing. Because it was so early in the morning, nobody else was in the laundromat. Understand the first part? So the man took off all his clothes and put them in the washing machine. After he put all his clothes in the washer, he realized that it was very cold because he was naked. In other words, he had no clothes on. So, in order to get warm, he turned on one of the clothes dryers and got inside of it. Did you get the second part? While he was in the dryer, he fell asleep. A little while later, another customer came into the laundromat to do her laundry. Suddenly she noticed the naked man in the drier. She thought he was dead. So she called the police and an ambulance. When they arrived they woke the naked man and everyone was surprised. Understand?
